CHAS. C. REINHARDT'S patent glas pad double and single lever truss (patented Sept. 24, 1844.) for the support and cure of rupture, or hernia, suitable to all sizes and ages, for men, women, and children.

This truss has the superiority of any heretofore in use: first, on account of its durability and cleanliness, the rupture pad teing of glass. (in any shape or form;) the adjustments of the springs to suit the action of the body, and calculated to be fitted to either side. The rupture pad (glass) has a double motion: first, by revolving on its own axis; second, by the lever to which it is attached, and where said lever is connected to the main axis; second, by the lever to which it is attached, and where said lever is connected to the main spring. The supernority which this truss has over others is obvious in this, that it is most effectual in retaining the parts in their proper place, and making due pressure; it is always clean; its shape or form is durable, which in stuffed pads is not the case, (as they become saturated with the fluids from the body.) The umbilical truss is unsurement height of adapted as to remain perfectly passed, being so adapted as to remain perfectly secure where applied.

As a proof of its efficacy of the great number that has been vended, not one of the owners has been distantisfied, but have spoken in the most commenda-

CERTIFICATES.
BALTIMORE, May 15, 1846.
Mr. C. C. REINMARDE: I have examined and used to some extent the truss of Mr. Charles C. Reinhardt. It is an instrument well adapted to treatment of hernia, and especially the accomplish ment of the radical cure. I do not hesitate to re commend it as an ingenious and useful instrument. N. R. SMITH, M. D.

Having examined the truss of Mr. Chas C. Reinardt, I concur with Prof. Smith in the opinion as t JOHN R. W. DUNBAR.

I have used the several trusses manufactured by Mr. C. C. Reinhardt, and have found them well adapted to effect the ends for which trusses have RICHARD WILMOT HALL, M. D.,

BALTIMORE, May 12, 1846.
I regard the truss of Mr. Chas. C. Reinhardt as superior to any other now known, and should be glad to see it generally introduced into practice.
CHAS. BELL GIBSON, M. D., Prof. of surgery in the Washington University, Baltimore.

BALTIMORE, May 14, 1846. The hernial truss, invented by Mr. C. C. and nerman truss, invented by Mr. C. C. Reinhardt, has advantages over most others now in use, in regard to durability of material, variety of form of pad, and its admitting of being easily cleansed. Its introduction into use, if judiciously selected and applied, I doubt not would give general satisfaction.

A SHABBY Coat will not do for me.—

It is not every man that can afford to wear a shabby coat, and wordly wisdom dictates to her disciples the propriety of dressing somewhat beyond their means, but of living within them; for every one sees how we dress, but none see how we live except we choose to let them.
